We met at the Pine Village Community room with eight members present. Everyone brought a salad for lunch. Surprisingly, there were no duplicates. One of our members is a vegan and we are always excited to see what she brings. (cont. on page 2)

“CHRISTMAS IN THE VILLAGE”

DECEMBER 8TH and 9TH. 2012

OCTOBER MEETING DETAILS:

Come and join us on October 15, 2012 at Doc McGrady’s Post & Beam Barn in Hillsboro Indiana. As reported in last month’s newsletter, Doc & his wife have invited the Illiana Antique Power Assoc. to hold our monthly meeting at his newly built barn. We will begin with our usual carry-in dinner so be sure to bring a dish to pass. Doc has an amazing collection of antique tractors and equipment on display. Mark your calendars……you don’t want to miss it!

McGrady Farms: 680 S. State Road 341, Hillsboro, Indiana (1/4 mile south of Hillsboro on SR. 341) – see page 2 for map.

Camping & Fun Day NEWS:

Mother Nature provided some beautiful weather for the Camping Weekend and Fun Day on September 14th – 16th. Although we weren't able to press apples this year with our newly restored apple press, everyone enjoyed a delicious dinner outside the clubhouse. Don, Clayton & Terry Bodine had their steam engines "fired up" and the railroad guys had a few engines "rolling on the rails"! It was a great day! Thanks to Kenny & Kim Short for organizing the camping, and, thanks to all who attended.

THE WHEAT IS SOWED FOR THE 2013 SHOW:

Tom Swanson has reported that he sowed the wheat on Saturday, September 29th. A BIG THANKS to Kevin Peterson of Pioneer Seeds who donated the seed wheat and to CPS in Odell Indiana for donating the fertilizer. Let's pray for some "good growing" weather!

She outdid herself this time. I must share a little tidbit that happened at our luncheon. I told Joan Fry that I had fodder for the newsletter, because the joke was on her. She tried to drink her bottle of coke without taking off the lid. I was looking right at her when it happened. Suddenly I had no voice. Me! Can you imagine?! It was hilarious. But, she laughed along with everyone.

Florence invited a guest to give a lesson on beautiful placemats. The stacking before cutting was a little complicated and of course I messed mine up. Poor Jane (our guest) walked over to me, patted my shoulders, and said, "I'm sorry". After I finished giggling, I thought, "Yeah, me to". I can't remember everyone's "Show & Tell", but Florence brought some beautiful wall hangings with a twist and turn wreath.

The member who machine-quilted the quilt for the Power Show raffle is having a knee replacement. We wish Marilyn a quick recovery and return to our group. The husband of another member is having a kidney removed. Seems like lots of sickness going around.

Since our "Christmas in the Village" was such a huge success last year, it will be next to impossible to top! I have an idea for our "Quilters Cabin" this year but it will be a lot of work. It can only happen if I have lots of help! Of course if you are not a quilter, we would still love your help. Hopefully that beautiful dollhouse will be set up somewhere on the grounds.

One of our favorite members has moved away. Connie McIntyre has sold her home and is building a new one in Carmel down by Indianapolis. We wish her much happiness and hope she finds a new quilt club soon. She has much to offer...a surprise visit from her would be a welcome sight anytime.

Still trying to sew, Sophia

Tractor Trivia

Between 1912 and 1915, Clarence Eason and Robert Hendrickson, engineers with Wallis Tractor Co, in Cleveland, developed the first unit frame system using the engine as part of the tractor.

TO THE MEMBERS:

*I hope that all of you enjoy the "NEW LOOK" of our newsletter! Becky Eveland has graciously offered to re-design it after I gather all the news articles each month! I think it is fantastic! Enjoy!
And, thanks Becky.....welcome to the "staff"!
